

BREW · ~90-SECOND LAUNCH FILM · MODELLED ON "NUMTERA" BY OBIN STUDIO

Calm, bright, and built on the product.

~90 S · 16:9 · 34 SHOTS · LIGHT STAGE WITH DARK EMPHASIS BEATS

WHAT WE TOOK FROM THE REFERENCE

Typed one-line captions with a caret · a text-selection highlight · big single words pulling out of motion blur · the logo landing between "Meet" and the name · light-theme product UI in perspective with heavy depth of field · a split screen hero (light card, dark monospace system panel) · a { braced } phrase morphing into a progress bar and then a card header · a [bracketed] payoff the camera flies through · macro shots of single form fields · numbered steps building one at a time · ending on dark with a typed tagline and CTA.

WHAT WE CHANGED FOR BREW

Blue becomes brew green and teal. The off-white paper is brew's own text colour (#F2F2F0 family). The reference's brackets become brew's viewfinder brackets, so the payoff device is the logo itself. Copy is brew's: "Stop assembling videos", "watched by people", "We hand you the video", "Your first video is free".

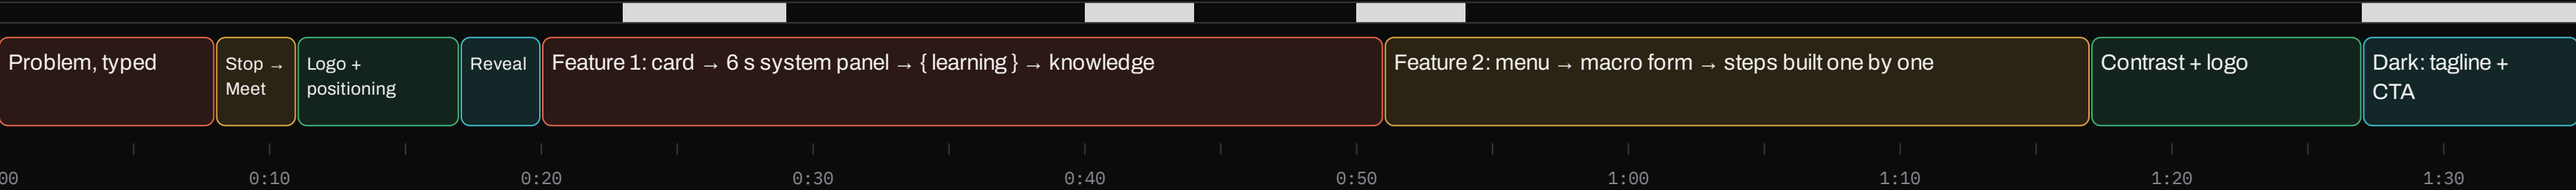

FACTS KEPT ACCURATE

Pipeline stages, nine languages (EN DE FR ES PT IT PL ID DA), the 15-point review, three days, first video free, "Send us a script" CTA. brew Studio screens are a proposed light-theme UI built from the site's tokens.

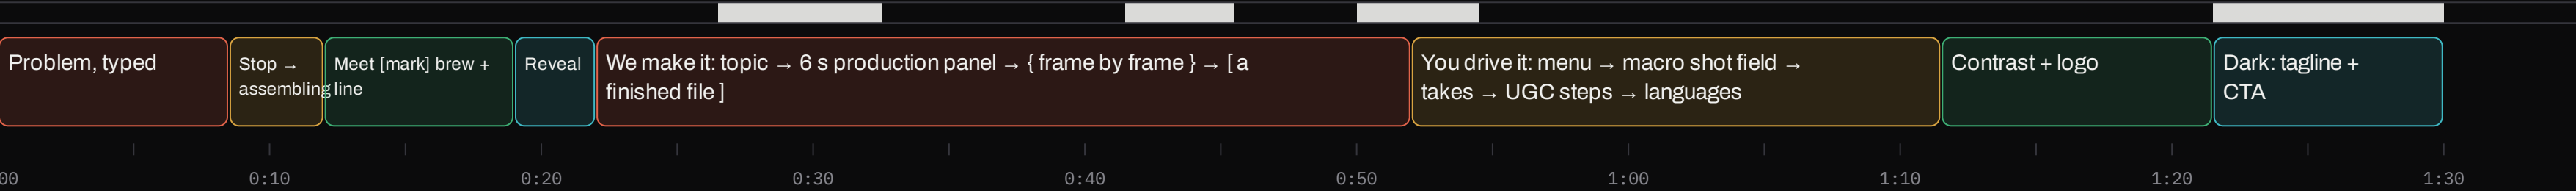

Flow & velocity

Read from the reference's 1 fps preview frames (YouTube blocked the full stream). Section lengths are accurate to about ±1 s; speeds are inferred from motion blur and from how much each frame changes.

LIGHT/DARK STRIP: WHITE BLOCKS ABOVE EACH LANE MARK THE DARK BEATS

VELOCITY RULES (APPLY TO EVERY SHOT)

Type Captions type at ~10 characters/s, hold 1.5–2 s once complete. One line on screen at a time.

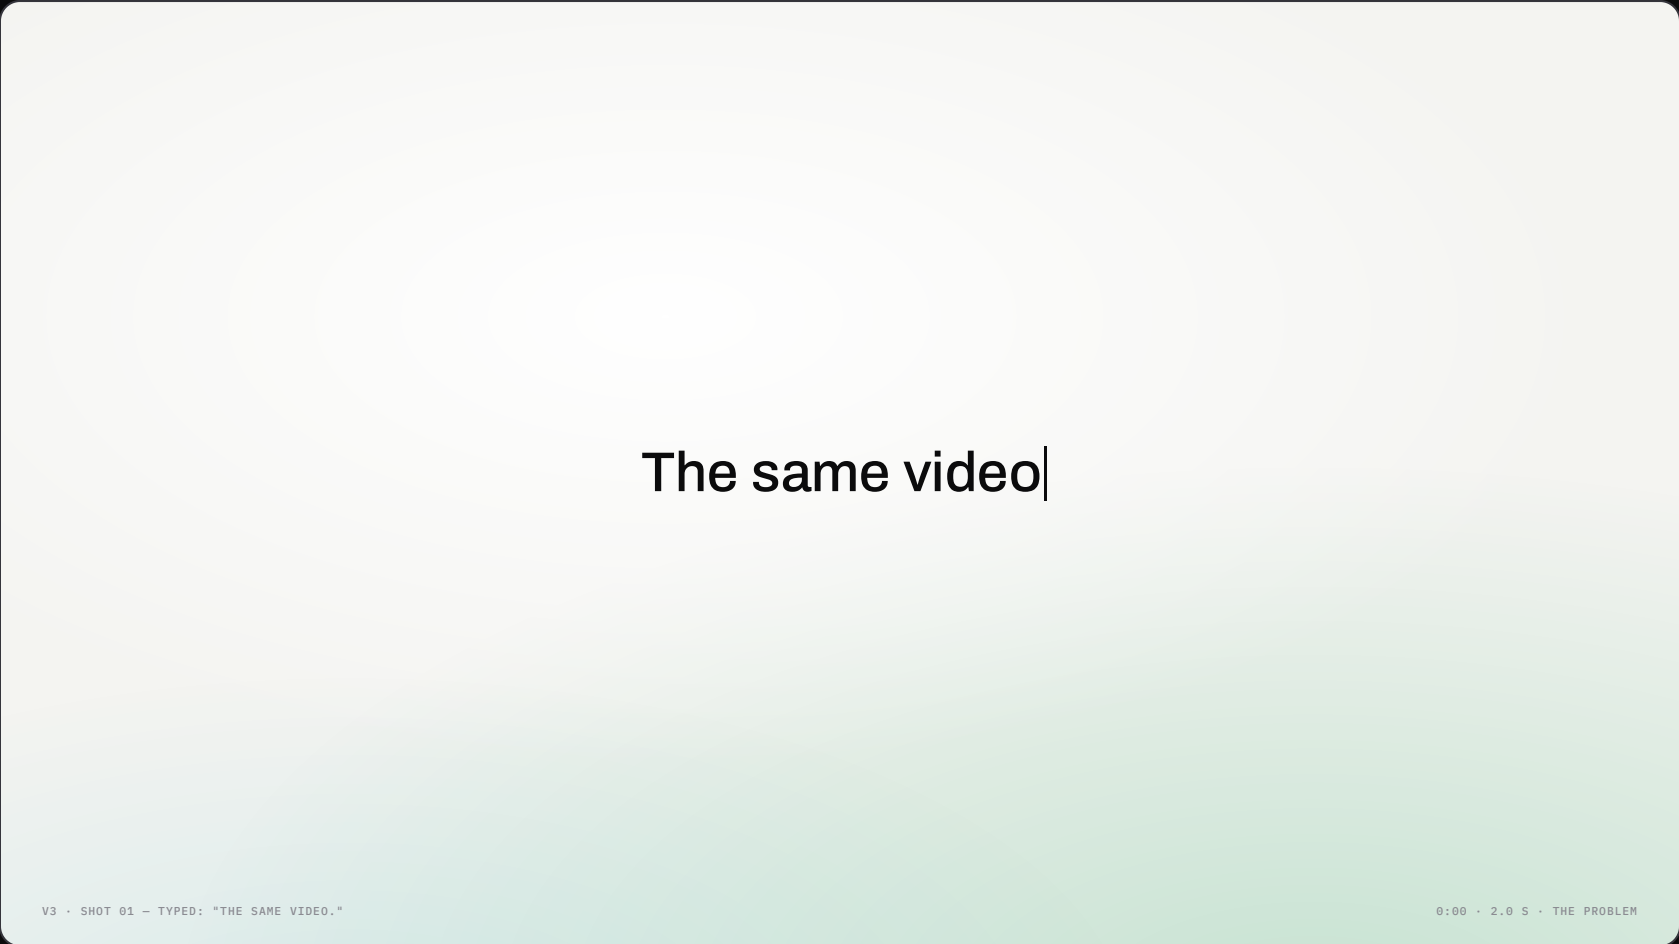

Big words Arrive in ≤ 6 frames with directional blur, hold ~1 s, leave the same way. Only "Stop", "Meet", "Delivered", "And".

Product UI Never cut mid-feature. Slow continuous camera, ~3–5% push per second; cursor travels ~600 px/s with ease-in-out; one click every 1–2 s.

Transitions Focus pulls and blur dissolves of 0.3–0.5 s; shape morphs (phrase → bar → card header, brackets fly-through) of ~0.5 s.

Holds The system panel and the step builder are the longest beats (5–6 s). The film breathes there; about a third of the runtime is calm UI building.

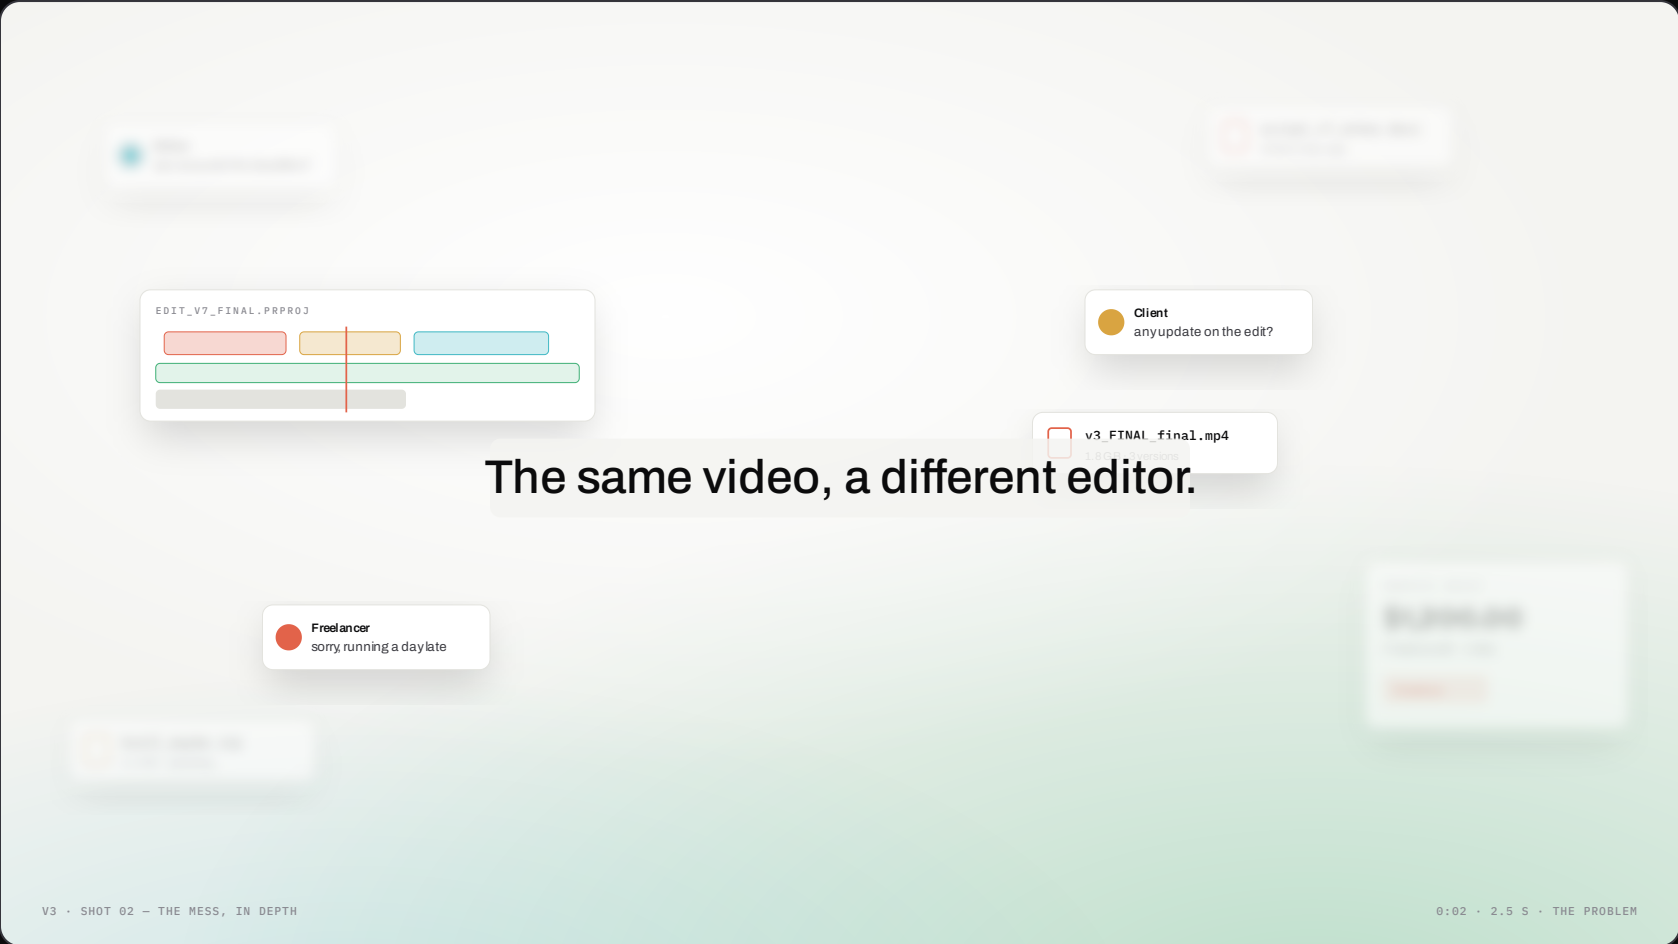

Music Starts under "Meet". Thins to a pad for the review beat, returns for "You drive it", resolves on the logo and holds through the CTA.
